FEAD is the European Federation which represents the European waste management industry. Our members are national waste management associations, which have an approximate 60% share in the household waste market and handle more than 90% of industrial and commercial waste in Europe, with a collective annual turnover of € 50 billion.

We have 18 members from 17 EU Member States and Norway. FEAD represents companies with activities in all forms of waste management. These companies employ over 300.000 people who operate around 3.000 controlled landfills, 1.350 recycling and sorting centres, 1.000 composting sites and 350 incinerators and play an important role in the determination of the best environmental option for waste management problems.

BDE, the Federation of the German Waste Management Industry, is the association with the utmost number of members of the German waste management industry and, at the same time, the biggest branch association throughout Europe. However, the BDE is not only a business and industrial association, but plays as an employers' association also an important role as a party to the collective wage agreement.

Among our members, you can find small and big family businesses, competitive SMEs and the main structures of our branch of industry. German subsidiaries of internationally active companies are also belonging to the BDE.

We are proud of this structure as it is most important for us to be able to represent the full scope of companies active in our sector. Already from our history it is apparent that the BDE is committed to an environmentally friendly and commonly compatible waste management as well as to recycling.
